the reports upon which is based its particular report is from United States startling figures to illustrate the extent

Fee says that notwithstanding the season of acute distress has hardly commenced, the returns far exceed those recorded during the initial stages of the famine three years ago. It then affected only 1,000,000 persons; now the of the famine three years ago. It then affected only 1,000,000 persons; now the figure is 3,500,000, and the daily expenditure is placed at $84,000. The famine area covers 300,000 square miles, with a population of 40,000,000, and there is a further area of about one hundred and twenty-five thousand square miles with a population of 21,000,000 in which more or less distress prevails and to whom relief already has been or will be given. The consul says that the applications for relief are overtaxing the state authorities and are increasing in an appalling rate, the numbe of applicants at the relief works during the last week in January advancing 250,000 and bringing up the total to 3,500,000, with the most trying period still two months distant.

In conclusion, the consul expresses the fear that the South African war will so divert attention and contributions of Englishmen as to oblige India to fight the plague and famine alone.

PARIS, April 11.—[By Atlantic Ca-ble.] The question of the transporta-tion of British troops across the Portu-guese territory to Rhodesia with the permission of Portugal was brought up in the Chamber of Deputies today by two interpellations. The Minister of Foreign Affairs, M. GATACRE RECALLED TO ENGLAND AT A CRITICAL HOUR.

Boers Serve Notice on Portugal That Shipping of Troops to Rhodesia by Way of Beira is Considered Hostile Action-Over Twenty-three Britishers Put Out of Action.

(A. P. DAY REPORT.)

LONDON, April 11.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Lord Roberts wires to the War Office from Bloemfontein, under date of Tuesday, April 10, as follows:

"The enemy have been very active during the past few days. One commando is now on the north bank of the Orange River, not far from Aliwal North, while another is attacking Wepner. The garrison there is holding out North, while another is attacking Wepener. The garrison there is holding out bravely, and inflicted serious loss on the Boers. Maj. Springe of the Cape Mounted Rifles was killed. No other casualities have been reported as yet.
"The troops are being moved up rapidly. A patrol of seven men of the Seventh Dragoons, under Lieut. Letherby, which had been reported missing since April 7, has returned safely."

As the foregoing dispatch does not mention the alleged British reverse Saturday at Merkatsfontein, the Boer telegrams are not credited at the War Of fice, and they are further discredited

Bloemfontein, the places being 100 miles apart.

Gen. Gatacre's return to England is accepted as being in the nature of a recall, though no reason is given for it and it will be associated in the public mind with his lack of success. Lord Roberts criticised his management of the Stormburg attack, and possibly the fact that Gatacre arrived an hour and a half too late to rescue the Reddersburg force may have decided his return. Rundle seemingly succeeds Gatacre.

The Reuter Telegram Company's correspondent at Aliwal North, wiring this moraling, says: "There is no further news from Wepener, Too cloudy to heliograph. More British troops are arriving."

ther news from wepeners from the heliograph. More British troops are arriving."

It is learned that the Boer governments have formally notified Portugal that they consider the shipping of British troops and munitions of war to Rhodesia by way of Beira, Portuguese East Africa, to be tantamount to hostile action. This, however, will not stop Gen. Sir Frederick Carrington's force from entering Rhodesia. Whether or not the Boers will make reprisals upon Portugal remains to be seen, though the best-informed opinion here inclines to the belief that the Boers are not likely to back up their protest with action that would bring them into hostilities with still another power.

The British government, the Associated Press is officially informed, stands ready to take the part of Portugal in case the Boers attempt reprisals, but so far Portugal has not applied for British add, nor has she we replied to the Boer notification. With Great Britain at her back, it is said she will fore give in in the slightest in ugal in case the Boers attempt reprisals, but so far Portugal has not a popiled for British aid, nor has she repiled to the Boer notification. With the property of the Boer notification with the property of the Boers and the transactions at Beira are fully justified by the long-standing treaties between Great British and Portugal. While the situation is admitted to believe the Boers are fully justified by the long-standing treaties between Great British and Portugal. While the situation is admitted to believe the Boers attempt reprisals, it would react the advantage of Great British can be such as the Boers attempt reprisals, it would react to the advantage of Great British can be such as the quate and unjust, it now seems probable that it must be accepted as final. It is doubted whether, even if the United States government was disposed to repudiate the arbitration, the British government could be induced to do likewise, for, notwithstanding the predominance of the British interests in this particular case, there are other considerations which might make it better for England to make a sacrifice in order to remain on good terms with Portugal, against which country the repudiation would react. During the greater part of the session, the District of Columbia Appropriation Bill, which was finally passed, was under consideration. The bill now only requires the signature of the Speaker of the House signature of the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate before going to the President for his approval. These signatures will be attached tomorrow, and before nightfall-the bill will probably be a law.

As the bill originally passed the House, it was a simple bill, imposing 15 per cent of the Dingley rates on goods going into Puerto Rico from the United States. As amended by the Senate and today agreed to by the House, all restrictions on goods combined and other articles which heretofore have gone into Puerto Rfso free by executive order are excluded from the operation of the 15 per cent. duty imposed on goods entering the island from the United States. A complete schema of civil government for the Island is also attached to the measure.

Upon the final vote, nine Republicans voted against the bill: Messrs. Heatwole of Minnesota, Crumpacker of Indiana, Lane of Iowa, Littlefield of Maine, McCall of Massachusetts, H. C. Smith of Michigan, Warren of Illinois, Fletcher of Minnesota and Lorimer of Illinois. Two Democrats, Messrs. Davey and Meler of Louisiana, were paired with Democrats in favor of the bill, and one Democrat, Mr. Sibley of Pennsylvania, voted for it outright. Mr. De Vries, the other Democrat who toted for the original bill, today voted against concurrence. Mr. Stallings (Dem.) of Alabama was the only member on either side absent and unpaired.

On demand of Mr. Daizell, the previous question on the adoption of the rule was ordered. This gave twenty minutes for debate on each side under the rules. Mr. Daizell said he would discuss the rule briefly. The amendments attached by the Senate, he said, furnished a civil government for the island. It was the opinion of the majority that those amendments should be concurred in. There had been enough discussion of the subject. What the country desired was not debate, but action.

Mr. Richardson, the minority leader, called attention to the fact that the rule would permit the House to vote only on a single proposition. If it had been possible for the Senate to add to the iniquity of the original bill, levying 15 per cent. of the Dingley duties on goods going into Puerto Rico, he said, had done so, in the so-called civil government amendment. Under the guise of a civil government, the Senate, he said, had imposed an imperialistic government upon the people of the island. Mr. Dolliver of Iowa answered Mr. Richardson, declaring that the Magoon opinion was that of a "mere law clerk," and was not to overrule the opinion of the "great lawyer at the head of the War Department." Mr. Dolliver dismissed as contemptuous the references to campaign funds, and arraigned the minority for favoring a free-trade sugar resolution which would put $60,000,000 in the pockets of the Sugar trust.

Mr. De Armond of Missouri said the rule was evidence that those who had decided to suppress intellect, chain the will and stifle conscience realized that they must do their work quickly. He commended those who had the manhood to stand out for the right, and warned the majority that the Republicans would have the country to reckon with.

Mr. Babcock, of Wisconsin, chairman of the Republican Congressional man of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, to whom Mr. Dalzell yielded a minute and a half, indignantly resented the charge of Mr. Richardson that the Republican Campaign Committee had received money sonsideration for the Puerto Rico

WASHINGTON, April 11.—Mr. Newlands criticised the civil-government eature o the Puerto Rico measure. He declared that if the House were untrammeled it would vote overwhelmingly to permit a delegate from Peurto Rico to sit on the floor of the House.

Mr. Dalgell arose at this point to correct, an inadvertent remark which he had made earlier in the day about "a subsidized Republican press." He had not intended to use such a remark, and he desired to correct it publicly.

Mr. Rea of Kentucky said the civil-government feature of the bill presented some new propositions. It proposed to govern a people not citizens of the United States in territory not a part of the United States, yet every official was to take an oath to support and defend the United States.

Mr. Hay of Virginia also criticised the civil-government scheme proposed in the bill.

Mr. Hopkins of Illinois asserted that the bill, when enacted into law, would be far more advantageous to the people of Puerto Ries than the United States force in New Mexico, Arisona or any Territory of the United States. No money was taken from the treasury of the United States for building schoolhouses and roads in any of the Territories. The internal-revenue laws of the United States were in full force in the Territories. He claimed that the bill was in strict accord with the recommendations made by Gen.

Mr. Dolliver read Gen. Davis's opinion and also the opinion of Dr. Carroll, the President's confidential agent.

"Did not Dr. Carroll recommend free trade?" asked Mr. Richardson.

"Ultimately free trade." responded Mr. Dolliver: "just as this bill does."

In conclusion, he dismissed as beneath contempt the charge of bribery as a motive for this bill. He had as well accuse Mr. Richardson of corruption for introducing a resolution to place sugar on the free list. This was a Republican measure, he said, endorsed by the Republican President and the Republican leaders.

Mr. Payne of New York, the floor leader of the majority, closed the debate with a vigorous speech, in which he said he was ready to submit the issue involved to the pending bill to the common people of the country. "The proudest act of my life," said he, "is my connection with this bill from start to finish." [Republican applause.]

HAD A FIXED PLAN.

BOER ENVOYS ACCUSE MILNER. ROME, April 11.-The Naples correspondent of the Tribuna telegraphs an interview he has had with Fischer, one of the Boer peace commissioners, who arrived there yesterday. Fischer said he was convinced that Sir Alfred Milner, when appointed Governor of Cape—Colony, and British High Commissioners in South Africa want to Cape Cape—Colony, and British High Commissioner in South Africa, went to Cape Town with a fixed intention, or a mission to bring about the war, and this was proved by the fact that Milner had systematically opposed the Transvaal's "generous efforts and concessions to avoid war," as though he had received _precise instructions to follow this line of policy.

"While the Transvaal was making concessions." said Fischer, "Great Britain was gathering troops along the frontier."

Britain was gathering troops along the frontier."

The Boer envoy accuses Sir Alfred Milner of falsifying dispatches. In fact, according to the commissioners, accusations against Sir Alfred Milner constitute one of the principal features in the prognostications which the commissioners seek to carry through.

The Boer envoys left Naples today, going by way of St. Gothard and without stopping here.

MOHAMMEDANS

BLASPHEMERS.

[Forum:] Mohammedans differ from the rest of mankind, even in regions inhabited by the wild tribes alone. A long and somewhat intimate acquaintance has given me admiration and respect for many Mohammedans as friends. Many of their finest qualities may be traced to the teachings of their religion. But dealings with Mohammedans sooner or later bring one into contact with their essential peculiarities. They cannot avoid regarding others from a religious standpoint, and they cannot set aside permanently the fact that God has commanded them to subjugate or exterminate all who refuse to believe in Mohammed. This divine command shapes their conduct toward allens, even when they themselves would like to forget it. It classes all of alien faith as blasphemers; and this fact once being fixed, inquiry as to minor details is needless in their eyes. A blasphemer (kiafir or glaour) is a blasphemer (kiafir or glaour) is a blasphemer. Wherefore ask whether he be American or Spaniard? It leads also to endless confusion in the use of words of ethical importance. Not only does "peace" mean something different to the Mussulman from what it means to the other party to a reconciliation, as will be seen below, but such words as "honesty," "kindness," "pity" and "piety" do not, in the mind of the Mohammedan, have the sense which the Christian gives them.

Sultan Haround al Raschid of Sulu seems to have liberal views. Apparently be likes the Americans, with whom he has had dealings. Perhaps ALIENS ARE TO THEM BLASPHEMERS.

he is as honest and magnanimous as his great mamesake of Bagdad. Yet we cannot forget that for purely selfish reasons Haroun of Bagdad killed his best friend, the Vezir Jaffer. And the crime neither disturbed his own conscience nor stained his repute with the people for justice and piety. The Moro Sultan has the same standards of right and wrong, if not the same vast power, as the Caliph of the eighth century. For moral conduct has small room for change among Mohammedans, because the "Thus saith the Lord" of their law books applies to acts so much more frequently than to principles. A better understanding of doctrine is contrary to the whole spirit of the system. And so, whatever their personal geniality or amiability of disposition in dealing with aliens, the divine command comes into the minds of Mohammedans, at the very moment of fruition, like the alchemist's suggestion of the fox's tail, to spoil the charm which promised to bring forth a shining virtue.

The full importance of this curious trait can only be gauged by gaining the Mohammedan point of view, as found in any compend of the holy law now in use in Mohammedan countries. Only by actual study of the books can one gets an idea of the deadly carnestness of such expositions of divine will. Yet these books today form the foundation of theological and legal education as well as of aspiration in the hearts of the common people in all of those countries.

After all the witnesses for the Pacific Coast jobbers had been examined, counsel for the Middle West jobbers called retail members. There is no question about the Great Northern being willing to restore the Milwaukee differentials. Mr. Hannerford of the Northern Pacific came to Seattle, and we talked over the situation. The laboring class, he said, complained of the higher prices. The fact of the matter was that the consumers had to pay the difference. It was a serious disadtage to his trade to depend only upon the Pacific Coast jobbers, and it was an advantage to be able to do business with the Middle West jobbers.

SQ MDS SEVENTY FEET LONG. In all probability the largest and most remarkable fishes have not been most remarkable fishes have not been seen, and escape the dredge. Many of these strange forms of the abysmal depths are types of extinct forms, and we can only imagine what wonders the deep sea hides. In the Atlantic and Pacific giant squids from fifty to seventy feet in length are found, and glimpses of strange snake or eel-like sharks are suggestive of the uncaught mysteries, and unseen dwellers in the deep sea. Among the curious light givers is a shark which was caught by Dr. Bennett. It was perfectly black, but emitted a strange phosphorescent light, which remained some time after the animal's death. The shark was placed in a jar in the cabin of the vessel, and is described as presenting a ghostly appearance, emitting a rich green light, almost sufficient to read by.

In descending into the intermediate depths the jellyfish, its disk six feet across, its train of tentscles possibly emitting a vivid light, and stretching away in a blaze of brilliant lines, for perhaps one hundred feet. Such is the Cyanea, one of about this dimension being seen by Mrs. Agassiz off Nahant. Such a jellyfish moving through the upper depths might well be compared to a great comet.

Other forms—huge disks—are the moons and lesser planets of this submarine world of space. The variety of tints and colors emitted by the jellyfish is almost beyond comprehension, and so diverse are the lights that the bellef is forced upon the holder that they have some marked significance.

REGULAR AND PAID EMPLOYE OF THE ROAD.

[San José Mercury:] Fido, the railroad dog, is dead! He was distinguished from other remarkable dogs by his singular love of a locomotive, and of railroading. When but a slip of a pup his dogship was picked up in the yards of the Chicago, Lake Shore and Eastern road, which belongs to the Illinois Steel Company, and does the switching for its North Side mills at Eiston and Wabansia avenues. He seemed to have dropped there by chance.
That was seven years ago. The employes cared for Fido. It was but a short time before he displayed a liking for railroading, and formed an attachment for switch engine No. 50.
this career in the railroad yards was marked by many feats that showed remarkable astuteness. When his end came, under the wheels of his running mate, last week, it cast gloom over all who had been associated with him in railroading.

For three years Fido received his pay from the company every month. His name was on the paymaster's books just like those of other employes, and when Paymaster James M. Wentworth made his regular paying-off rounds to

The fondness for Fido was general, not only among the company's men, but also among the trainmen of the Northwestern and St. Paul roads, and, in fact, among all the railroad men and policemen on the North Side. Nor was he unknown throughout the Northwest. He was the only "active" railroad dog in the country—the only one on the pay roll of a railroad line. It is interesting to know how Fido came to be on the pay roll. He saved the road once from a possible lawsgit that might have grown out of an accident which would have happened, and would have been fatal had it not been for Fido. It was this feat of the dog that first brought him to the attention of the high officials of the company, and won for him a place on the pay sheet.

peddler was approaching the crossing. The dog was fifty yards ahead of the engine, and in dog fashion he warned, or tried to warn, the peddler of danger. The peddler, however, paid no attention to the dog, but kept on. Just as he got within three feet of the track Fido jumped up and knocked him back prostrate. A moment later the engine passed. But for the dog the peddler would have been killed. Fido then ran ahead as if nothing had happened.

E. A. Kennedy, agent of the road, tells of this incident as one of the most remarkable that ever came to his knowledge. W. G. Brimson was then president of the road, and when he heard the story from General Superintendent Richey, Fido was placed on the company's pay roll.

Two years ago Fido caused a small riot in the yards. A dog-catcher had him in tow and was about to take him to the pound. One of the office boys of the company, however, recognized the dog, jumped from his bleycle and went to the rescue. The boy caught Fido by the neck, and the catcher, a big, burly fellow, was trying to unloose him. It was at the noon hour, and from the steel mills, within a stone's throw of the scene, the mill hands saw the struggle, attracted by the barking of the dog.

They all knew Fido and would have fought a battle for him if need be. When threy reached the scene they were about to do the dog-catcher bodily harm. A riot call was sent in, and the arrival of a squad of police was the only thing that saved the captor of Fido from hurt.

Fido was an Irish setter, apparently with some claim to pedigree. But life about the rallroad yards blunted his finer feelings of breeding, and he became a fighter that no dog could, or ever did. whip, Fighting was his

The dog had a system of his own. His was a running fight. When another dor attacked him along the road, Fido would manage to get his assailant between himself and the moving locomotive, which he followed all the time. Then he would watch for a chance, rise to his best, and throw his assailant under the wheels of the engine. Then he would run ahead and flag crossings just as if nothing had happened.

It was this feat of the dog that first brought him to the attention of the high officials of the company, and won for him a place on the pay sheet.

Fido, shortly after entering the railroad business, developed a singular attachment for locomotive No. 50, that is used in switching. He was always with the engine. In a short time he learned the various switching signals and began to run alongside and ahead of the locomotive during working hours. Engineer Joseph Hermes came to consider Fido as good a flagman as the next one. The dog would flag crossings with the intelligence of a man.

Honest Values in Trimmed Hats.

Our way of handling Millinery has aroused the town---let us see why. You know and we know that most of the Paris hats now on the market never saw Paris. But to say a hat's from Paris, is a chance to ask a Paris price. Compare the custom house reports with the quantity that folks say come from Paris and you'll see what we mean. Quickly figure out, in your mind, what the material costs and the expense of puting it toge her, then you will find they are asking from three to four hundred per cent profit. We cannot understand now it is that any reliable concern can do business in this way.

Paris hats are models The capable and clever artists of New York can so duplicate them that we would defy the nost critical expert to tell them apart.

These are the hats on which we are building our reputation. They are creations of art-each with an individuality of its own. You can see touches of a master's hand in every ittle detail of fixing and finishing-marvelous, indeed, is the originality and beauty created by these experts. Again, how can a milliner living in Los Angele, the year round, have as good an idea of the best prevaling styles as a man in New York, who makes that his life's study? It's wholly guess work out here. As long as you must buy a copied hat why not get the best copy—the original copy? Those are what we have. We are honest with you. This honesty in millinery is a rare thing, but it pays.

We tell you candidly, we do not import hats. Knowing folks tell us that they are far prettier than the so-called Parisian hats at twice the price.

Ribbons for Easter.

We've a stock of ribbons that beats anything in town. Look at these:

Silks, Satins, Taffetas and Taffeta Moires. The very best within our reach—a complete line of colors and widths, with prices lower than asked for inferior grades. Samples? we are always glad to give them—comparison is what brings us more trade than anything else.

Women's Tailored Suits.

Homespun Suits $9 89.

With a close-fitting, silk-lined jacket-a finely tailored skirt that finds no rival under $15.

Cheviot Suits $6.98.

No such styles—No such prices—No such varieties AT ANY OTHER The most comprehensive showing ever made under one roof in Los Angeles. We mean every word of that. Usually where you find plenty of style you find the prices way up. If you are looking for low prices you are apt to find low qualities. Here you find combined in one—large and almost endless variety—low prices and high styles.

Eton Suits $7.69. Prettily rimmed with braid. Choose from navy blue or brown. They are made of all-wool ladies' cloth. They have the dash and style of a $12 suit.

Herringbone Suits $5.39. An unusual value. The jacket is silk lined and fits snugly. The skirt is made up to the present style.

enetian Suits $13.49.

A jaunty outfit that you would guess to be worth twice what we ask. The jacket has a mercerized lining. Choose from new browns and blues.

Fine Cheviot Suits $14.49.

The favorite Eton style jacket, silk lined, with the skirt and jacket trimmed with taffets silk. The skirts have that fare at the bottom that admits them into fashion's inner circle. Fine Values in Dress Goods.

She blushed and slyly answered: "Sir,

A study of the history of Spanish literature are will show that it dwes little to kings. It was as much a reflection of the national spirit as the literature of the Elizabethans was of national tendencies and aspirations. Kings repressed, and the inquisition fixelf—which the state controlled—fought against the secular spirit of the drama,—which the Spaniards loved with all their hearta. Against the love of this proud, passionate, religious and patriotic people for literary and dramatic expression, the opposition of kings and of the inquisition was vain, There was never any antagonism between religion and the Spanish literary expression; there was an antagonism at times between state ecclesiasticism and the determination of the people not to submit literary expression to too rigid a censorship.

Lope de Rueda had written drams in the Castilian speech, and these, in a theater quite as rough as the town hall at Stratford-on-Avon of Shakespeare's boyhood, Cervantes had seen at Madrid. It was to this city that he had been sent by his parents, who were poor and ambitious, to pick up such learning as he could. He studied ovid and Virgii, of course, and his preceptor, Juan Lopez, who wrote verses

HE DID NOT WRITE. SO SHE STIRRED UP THE OF-

[Washington Correspondence Rochester Herald:] The Postoffice Department has recently been stirred up in a remarkable manner by a young woman in Iowa. She happens to have a lover in one of the regiments now on duty in the Philippine Islands and recently made complaint of the Inefficiency of the postal service directed to the Postmaster-General and also to the member of Congress from the district in which she lives.

She was boiling with indignation because she had written twenty-four times to her lover in the Philippines and had received no reply; indeed she had not heard a word from him since his departure on the troopship from San Francisco, and was confident that he had written to her regularly, as he had promised to do, and that his better had either been destroyed or were lying in some corner where they had been overlooked or were lost on the way, or that he had been kilhed by the Filipinos and Gen. Othe had neglected to report his death. She denounced the expansion policy of the administration, declared that it was a crust and a wicked war, and demanded that her lover should be seen home at container and a wicked war, and demanded that her lover should be seen those at container and a wicked war, and demanded that her lover should be seen to be partment, and a cablegram was sent to the superintendent of the potal service in the Philippine Islands at the cost of 33 a word ordering an investigation.

The report has just been received. The special agent to whem the case was assigned says that he found the girl's lover without any difficulty, endreited that he had received a let dietters from his sweetheart in Iwa-he coulen't remember whether the case twenty-four—but they had come in bunches by every transport, and had company. He also acknowledged with equal candor that he had not answered any of them because the weather was too hot, and he wasn't much of a lyter writer anyhow. He liked to receive the treiter anyhow. He liked to receive the treiter anyhow. He liked to receive the left home. Therefore he did not see why she was making such fuss about it. He would write her by the next mail and scold her for making an official matter of their love affair. A copy of the report was sent to the member of Congress, with the request that he forward it to the youn lady:

ELEVEN LIVES.

[Boston Globe:] The boy who quistops the list of youthful heroes in England is a little chap who lives near it Camberwell Canal. His name is Water Myatt, he is not quite 14 and I has saved eleven lives. He isn't a pressional life saver, but goes to schoovery day and does his rescuing mere by way of diversion.

He made his first bid for fame for years ago. The tow path of the Carberwell Canal is a favorite playgrous for children, and every so often one them falls in and is usually drowne. This time it was a little girl. In fasti was two little girls. One of the had fallen in and the other had trit oget her out, but instead had join her.

Waiter Myatt, then aged 10, saw He could not swim a stroke himse and the canal is deep, but he rush in regardless and actually succeeded getting both children out. Natura considerable fuss was made over hat the time, but it didn't upset hi the only new thing he did being leasing to swim.

He got his next chance while he a another boy were up to something other on a barge anchored out in stream. The other boy tumbled when it, of course, behooved the venturous Myatt to get him out, whe he did, swimming with him to the et of the barge, which, fortunately, whaden so heavily that its side was most level with the water.

Then it was that this young n showed that he possessed invention well as bravery. The art of resuscition was an unknown one to him, there lay the boy unconnectors, something had to be done.

Myatt did it by pouring a gener quantity of canal water down throat in the belief that it would m him sick. It did, so sick that he "cuto".

[Mr. Bryan then told the story of the darkey who said that when he prayed to God to send him a chicken he seldom got it, but when he prayed God to send him after a chicken he was more successful. The pesition of the Republican party, he said, was similar to the man that prayed he might be sent after the chicken.]

"When Satan took the Savior up into a high mountain," continued the speaker, "and showed Him the territory round about, the Savior said, 'Get thee behind me, Satan.' When the Republican party was taken up into the mountain and shown the Philipipine Islands, the party went and hunted up the Spanish monarch and offered him $2.50 apiece for the Pilipinos. When we went there we found Spain sitting down on the Pilipinos with a club; we paid $20,000,000 for the club and then sat down on the Pilipinos ourselves. Now seek to throw all the blame on God."

These quotations are samples of the stuff palmed off by Bryan on the large audience which gathered in this city on Tuesday evening, ostensibly for the purpose of hearing the acknowledged leader of a great party discuss the issues of the day. It is not at all a matter for wooder that a large part of the subject of the su publican leaders, who look up to Mark Hanna every day and say, 'Give us this day our daily opinions,' made their little speeches in behalf of this bill. [Shosts of glee.] Not a word was said expressing regret at the failure of international himstallism. It was buried with no visible signs of grief. But after this Republican gold-standard bill had passed the House and came up in the Senate, the Senate was afraid to meet the issue of himstallism. The Senate put on an amendment declaring that the act should not stand in the way of himstallism whenever other sations should be ready to unite for it. My friends, if bimetallism is necessary, or desirable, then the gold standard is intolerable—and yet the Republican party, which passed a gold-standard bill through the House, put a tail on it in the Senate—and then the Republican House swallowed the tail in order to get the bill." [Laughter and applause.]

Now, every intelligent man knows that the Republican platform of 1896 declared in favor of the continuance of the single-gold standard, as the asfe and then the single-gold standard, as the asfe and then single-gold standard, as the asfe and then the sungle-gold standard, as the asfe and the sungle-gold standard as the sungle-gold standard as the sungle-gold standard as the sungle-gold standard as the sungle-gold s political party can ever win a national victory under the leadership of so vul-gar a demagogue and trickster as Bryan has over and over demonstrated himself to be. And it would be an almost ir-the Republican platform of 1896 declared in favor of the continuance of the single-gold standard, as the safe and wise course, until the status of silver should be defined by international agreement, if such agreement abould be found practicable. It is a matter of record that an honset and earnest effort was made by the administration to secure the concurrence of European mations in some definite recognition of silver. A commission was appointed, at the head of which was Senator Welcott of Colorado, an avowed champion of silver. This commission visited the European capitals, and made every possible effort to secure concurrent action by the leading commercial nations with respect to silver. That the mission of the Welcott silver commission was not successful, was no fault of Senator Welcott and the

The Senate holds in its own hands a practical remedy for this grave abuse. Let it steadily refuse to seat Senators who are elected under suspicious circumstances, without a full and fair investigation, as has been had in the Clark case, and the general knowledge that such investigation will be had whereever there is apparent secessity for it will have a most salutary effect in discouraging the improper use of money in couraging the improper use of money in Senatorial elections. It is well that the Senate has at last had the courage and the self-respect to draw the line in this matter, and it is to be hoped that the precedent estab-lished in the Clark case will be allowed to stand as the rule and not the exception of Senatorial action.

The House of Representatives yesterday, by a vote of 161 to 153, passed the Puerto Rican bill as it was sent to that body from the Senate, without amendment. This was a somewhat larger majority for the bill than was anticipated, in view of the opposition which has developed to the tariff feasure of the measure. There is practically no doubt that the bill will receive the President's approval. It is essentially a compromise measure, and as such cannot be expected to suit everybody. But one thing, at

You doubtless know the story—how the beautiful young daughter of a noble house, unfortunately attracted the admiration of that terrible King, Pedro the Cruel. Because she rejected his shameful proposals, he caused her to be chained to a stake and burned alive in the public square. As her clothes were consumed by the flames, exposing her beautiful form, the servant Leonora, faithful unto death, rushed into the fire, and by her own body shielded her beloved mistress from the gase of the rabble.

Since the dawn of history the neighborhood of Seville has been celebrated for its olives and oil, which yet form the staple commodity of Andalusia. There are hundreds of haclendas, large

Then all eyes turned greedily upon the victims, who stood with ropes around their necks, ready to furnish a climax to the show. Many of them had been immured for months in the dungeons of the Inquisition, and their haggard faces, emaclated forms, and often distorted limbs, told a terrible story of past sufferings. The process against them was read, and the grand inquisitor delivered them over to the burning, beseeching the executioners to "treat them with all kindness and mercy."

Among those who thus died at Seville were many gentlewomen. Two daughters of the nobility, Maria and Juana de Bohorques, perished in the same year, on suspicion of heresy alone. Both were first put to the rack, which was applied with such violence that the cords cut to the bopes of their arms and legs. Happily, all those horrors are far in the past—even farther off than the days when so-called witches were burned in Christian America.

It is only a few hours' ride, from Seville to Cordova, and having spent the day in the above researches, we were compelled to make it in darkness. The railwäy follows the Guadalquivir in a northeasterly direction.

On reconnoitering, the patrols found that the ridge captured by the Nebraskans the day before was still unoccupied, although some issurrectos were found near the railroad. On March 29, the [Second] Brigade advanced on the east side of the railroad track. The Nebraskans then moved on the right of the brigade against the ridge which they had captured on the right of the 27th. They swung to the left, and flanked the enemy in front of the Pennsylvanians and Dakotas. The Nebraskans engaged the enemy at 7:30 in the morning, and pursued them across the Bocaue River toward Santa Maria. A company of Nebraskans then caused the town to be evacuated. DELEGATES APPOINTED.

TO HOUSTON CONVENTION.

The annual sessions of the TransMississippi Congress will be held this year at Houston, Texas, beginning April 17 and continuing four days. Some time ago Mayor Eaton received a request from the Executive Committee of the Congress that he appoint delegates from this city. Yesterday he appointed the following to represent Los Angeles at the meeting: J. B. Lankershim, Will A. Harris, Encoh Knight, William M. Garland, Albert A. Hubbard, George S. Patton, Guy Barham, George W. Parsons, G. J. Griffith and Hancock Banning. Although all of these gentlemen will not be able to attend the congress, the Mayor has received assurances that several of them will go. At this year's meeting of the congress a number of subjects of particular interest to Los Angeles and the Pacific Coast generally are to be considered. HOUSTON CONVENTION.

Improvement Opposed.

Property owners on Avenue 22 north of Pasadena avenue have filed a protest against the proposed construction of a cement sidewalk along that street. They aver that there is little travel on the street, that property values have decreased because of dry years and that some of them have difficulty in paying their city and county taxes, They, therefore ask that the proceedings be abandoned.

TO TEST THE LAW.

LIVERY MEN TO BE ARRESTED.

One of the ordinances of the city prohibits the erection or maintenance of a livery stable within 100 feet of any school hospital or hotel, but the ordinance has never been enforced. It was adopted to cover a particular case and in its adoption one of the hotel keepers of the city interested himself very much. It so happens that the ordinance is such that its enforcement would drive out of business certain owners of livery stables, or at least it would cause them to remove to less advantageous locations. Guy Woodward, proprietor of the Ragle stables on Broadway, between First and Second, called upon the City Attorney yesterday to ascertain whether the ordinance could not be so changed as to not apply to his stable, which is within 100 feet of the Nadeau hotel. He was told that unless the Council sees fit to change the law nothing can be done if the police are disposed to enforce it. He then asked that it be enforced in order that the legality of the measure can be tested. He had been informed that the law would not stand a test in the courts and he is desirous of having the matter settled. He will iprobably be accommodated and proceedings under the ordinance may be instituted today against him and another therey stable proprietor in that neighberhood. TO TEST THE LAW.

WITH THREE BURGLARIES.

One Charge Against Edward Flower-hill Dismissed—A Genteel Person-age—Tried for Burglarising the Apartments of D. P. Dolson, Esq. His Peculiar Story of Defense.

Edward Flowerhill, whose German cognomen is euphoniously translated as Blumenburg, was on trial for burglary yesterday in Judge Smith's court, before a jury. Flowerhill is the peculiar old codger who is afflicted with the

and the court ordered the jury selected to try the case charged in the second information.

The case dismissed was the one in which Flowerhill was accused of burglarizing the apartments of Charles A. Jones at No. 563½ Weet Second street, and getting away with 33 in money and a brass trunk key, on the night of February 25. About 3-o'clock that morning Flowerhill was arrested on North Main street, just as he came down out of a lodging house with a large bunch of keys in his hands and wearing on his feet some rubber-soled "sneakers." He had Jones's key on his string—so 'tis eaid.

The charge on which Flowerhill was taken to trial alleges that February 24 he burglarized the rooms of D. P. Dolson, Esq., who was living at that time at No. 131½ North Broadway, but who now resides at No. 484 California street. Dolson was relieved of a silver watch, a pocketknife and 75 or 80 cents in silver. In Flowerhill's possession were found the knife and the watch a day or two afterward.

This is the case in which the prisoner prepared for his attorneys, Messrs, F. H. Thompson and F. McD.

had on rubber soled shoes that he had worn all day. The sights of the Plaza he had never seen. Just as he was nearing the enclosure about the fountain in the center of the grounds, he was suddenly surprised by the tintin-nabulation of many pieces of silver money. He cautidusly approached the enclosure, and, just as he was about to enter, a man who was sitting on a bench glanced up quickly and seeing him, took to his heels with precipitate haste, leaving behind him a watch, keys, money and other sorts of valuables. Flowerhill—he says so himself—was daxed at first. But he finally picked up the stuff and started back to his room, divided in his mind as to whether he should turn the articles of Jewelry over to the authorities or keep them for a few days and advertise them, asking for a reward.

"ALLEGED" IMPROVEMENTS. SUIT TO RECOVER TAXES.

SUIT TO RECOVER TAXES.

A. P. Thomson, Esq., filed suit in the Superior Court yesterday afternoon against the county of Los Angeles, praying judgment in the sum of $221.58. Thomson holds assigned claims of twenty-seven taxpayers, who allege that they paid taxes last year on improvements assessed on their property that they now say was devoid of all improvement. The assessments in controversy were made by County Assessor Caldwell some time during the months from March to July, 1899, and regular entries were made for improvements that are alleged not to have been on the property on March 5. On these debatable improvements the Supervisors levied taxes at the rate of $1.40 per $100 valuation and the taxes were paid to Tax Collector Gish under written protest. Afterwards the taxpayers who have assigned their claims to Thomson presented their bills for overpaid taxes to the board and they were rejected. Action is now brought to recover.

COLORED LITIGANTS. THEIR FIGHT OVER TAXES. THEIR FIGHT OVER TAXES.

An answer has been filed in the Huddleston-Washington controversy over the payment of taxes in the estate of Old Biddy Mason, colored, who left a valuable estate on Spring street between Third and Fourth, half of which was bequeathed to a daughter, Mrs. Huddleston, and a life interest in the other half to Mrs. Washington, which is to revert to Mrs. Huddleston upon Mrs. Washington's death. Litigation over the estate has been almost continual for several years past. Ten days or two weeks ago Mrs. Huddleston began suit against Mrs. Washington and her husband to recover about $800, alleged*to be due as their half of the taxes which, it is averred, the Washingtons refused to pay, and which Mrs. Huddleston has to pay, according to her side of the controversy, in order to prevent the taxes from becoming delinquent.

The Washingtons have just filed an answer in the case in which they set up a general denial to the allegations of the complaint, and allege that, if Mrs. Huddleston paid the taxes, such payments were made voluntarily and without any coercion or duress. Mrs. Washington admits that she has been An answer has been filed in the Hud-

[RAILROAD RECORD.] MR. WALKER'S PROMOTION.

GENERAL OFFICES NOT TO BE MOVED—MR MUIR'S TOUR.

John A. Muir, division superintendent of the Southern Pacific, has gone out on a tour of ten days, during which he will inspect the lines under his supervision. He is first doing the local branches, and will then go on the main line. Mr. Muir will probably go as far east as El Paso, although his division terminates at Yuma.

Today W. J. Weller, heretofore Chief Clerk to A. J. Wells, general superintendent of the Santa Få, will leave here for San Francisco. Mr. Walker will remain permanently in the Hay City as superintendent of the International His successor in the local office has not been mamed, but he will probably be some member of the present staff in Mr. Wells's office. This is a substantial promotion for Mr. Walker.

The Chronicle revives the old story about all the Santa Fé general offices being removed to San Francisco. The paper frankly states that the officials now there say that the subject is one which has never been discussed in official circles. This time the Santa Fé has made important investments in Market street property. But any one might know that offices becoming the importance of the road are to be malptained in that center. No one here has ever heard a word except gossip on the subject. Mr. Walker said yesterday: "I guess I am to be the only one to go." Eugene H. Roth, contracting freight agent of the Santa Fé, is out again, after quite a severs attack of illness.

FIVE-DOLLAR TALE OF WOE ABOUT A FIVE-CENT BEER.

Tom Kelly, a laborer, had a tale of wee to tell the police detectives yesterday afternoon. According to his story, he arrived in the city yesterday at 12:30 o'clock from Stone & McMurty's camp on the coast road above Santa Barbara. Feeling fry, he entered a saloon conducted by a man called "Chris." He asked for a gisss of beer, and claims he laid a $5 gold piece on the counter. At that instant a man serving soup at another counter called him to get a bowl of soup, and he took his glass of beer and moved to the soup counter before receiving his change. Finishing his beer and soup, and for the time being forgetting about his change, he left the saloon, but he soon remembered it, and went back. He called the saloon man's attention to the fact that he had not received his change, $4.55, but "Chris." insisted that he had only paid a nickel, and refused to refund. Capt. Bradish detailed one of the detectives to investigate the matter.

THE MAN OF THE WEEK.

ADMIRAL REMEY.

The Asiatic squadron of the United States has come to be one of the most important naval 'organizations on earth. The command has just been transferred from Admiral Watson to Admiral George C. Remey. The latter is an old sailor, having, made quite a record in the Union navy during the civil war, and he was also very valuable to the navy in the recent war with Spain. He was appointed to the Naval Academy from Iowa in 1855. When the civil war began he was commissioned a lieutenant and assigned to the gunboat Marbiehead, in the South Atlantic blockadine squadron, which vessel was present at the slege of Yorktown and participated in many engagements. After the war he was subjected to the customary shifting life of a naval officer in time of peace. In 1855 he was made a captain and placed in charge of the Charleston squadron of evolution. The many changes occasioned by the Spanish war made it possible for him to become an admiral, and he now succeeds to the command of the most important squadron of the navy, having under his direction a fleet of more than thirty vessels which belong to the Asiatic station. His recent services have been as commandant of the navy yards at Portsmouth, N. H. Admiral Remey is 57 years of age, and will be subject for retirement on the 10th of August, 1962.

by the carriers of Los Angeles and Pasadena.

Brief addresses of welcome were made by Postmaster Groff and by Carriers Sanborn and Ebey, the latter more particularly speaking in behalf of the association.

Mr. Edens, in response, expressed his surprise at the growth of the city since his last visit and gave it as his opinion that the postoffice service has not kept pace with the needs of the community. His address stimulated the hope that something may be done in the way of providing additional facilities in the future.

No man connected with the Postoffice Department is more closely in touch with the letter carriers than Mr. Edens, and his meeting with them is free from formality. In his remarks, he referred to the fact that it was by meeting them face to face and making a personal study of their work, that he was able to be of service to the carriers and to the department.

The evening was made pleasant by music and refreshments.

MUSIC.

MUSIC.

The sixth and closing concert of the Krauss String Quartette was given at Blanchard Hall last evening with a large attendance. The programme was pleasing, each number eliciting an appreciative response from the audience. The quartette of the evening Mendelssohn's quartette in E flat, op. 12, No. 1, was the opening number, and was given with better finish than any other work heretefore undertaken by Mr. Krauss, making very apparent the continued improvement in the work of the organization. The number was suggestively Mendelssohnian in its graceful themes, beauty and polish. The nice regard for the nuances of the first movements and the commendable spirit of the quartette work in the brilliant final movement of the number, made an excellent effect. The Adagistto from Bizet's "L'Arlesienne," played with muted instruments, was an effective and beautiful little composition. The closing quartette number, "Au Bord de la Mer," by Dunkler, was also a pleasing thing, short, and in lighter vein than the preceding numbers.

The soloists of the evening, Mme. Genevra Johnstone-Bishop, seprand, and Mr. Krauss, violinist, were both the recipients of very demonstrative and flattering applause. Mme. Bishop's voice has probably never been heard to better advantage here than it was last evening, nor has its possessor probably voice has probably never been heard to better advantage here than it was last evening, nor has its possessor probably voice has probably never been heard to het exceeding brilliant work in the "Carmen" fantasie is worthy of high praise. Mr. Krauss' technical capabilities and temperament stood him in good stead, and the insistant demands for an encore amply testified to the appreciation of his listeners.

METHODIST CONFERENCE.

LOS ANGELES WILL BE IN FIGHT
TO SECURE IT FOR 1904.

When the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church convenes in Chicago next month Los Angeles will be prominently mentioned in the contest for the next conference convention. The local Methodist Ministers' Association has already taken up the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce read at the latter's meeting yesterday asked its cooperation in securing the meeting for this city.

The meetings of the general conferences are held quadriennially. The next session will open at the Auditorium in Chicago early next month, and-will remain in session for the entire month.
Delegates to the conference come from Southern Europe, India, Chima and Japan, and there is generally a large following of visitors. During the meeting

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce directors yesterday George H. Stewart, Will A. Harris, C. H. Sessions, N. B. Blackstone and John H. Norton were applointed a special committee to look into the matter. The fact that the conference would remain in session one month is considered a great incentive toward procuring the convention for this city.

L. Mendelson, agent of the Lower California Development Company, has written the Chamber of Commerce that the initial trip of the Mexican Coast Steamship Company's steamer has just been made, and that in order to maintain the port of entry at San Diego more freight would have to be supplied from Southern California, and suggested that some effort be mady to increase the trade between Los Angeles and Mexican points in order that the monthly shipments might be increased, and the port of entry maintained at San Diego instead of going to San Francisco, as seems to be the intention at the present time, in consequence of a lack of patronage.

When the matter was brought to the attention of the board yesterday it was referred to the joint Committee on Commerce and Transportation, with the request that they report $\psi$ soon and content of the concommerce and Transportation, with the request that they report $\psi$ soon

COULD NOT AGREE.

DAY-CLOSING CASE.

Another jury disagreed yesterday as to the guilt of a saloon-keeper charged with violation of the Sunday-closing ordinance. The trial took place in Justice Austin's court. The defendant was John Malby, proprietor of a saloon on South Los Angeles street. Officers D. L. Crair and J. M. Baker testified that they visited Malby's saloon on Sunday, March II, in citizen's clothes, and asked for something to drink. Malby refused to serve them at the bar, but asked them to take a seat in a box, after which he brought them some beer, which they paid for and drank. The defendant entered a general denial, and the jury, after deliberating four hours on the question, were unable to agree. They stood seven for conviction to five for acquittal. The case was continued for retrial.

CHARGED WITH FELONY.

SANTA BARBARA, April 11.—[Regular Correspondence.] An ex-convict named Louis Labenthal and a boy giving the name of Harris were brought to the County Jail last night charged with felony. A few days ago the two presented a check made to ne Donovan at one of the gap railroad pay stations. The check was indorsed and exchanged for a San Francisco draft which was later cashed at Gaviota. Donovan later put in an appearance and asserted that he had been robbed of the check. The case seems to be one of "drunk rolling," combined with forgery. Last night the boy, who is a mere youth, confessed and told Sheriff Stewart he had been induced to commit the crime by his companion. According to the penitentiary records, Labenthai has served three terms in this State. The boy's home is at Lompoc.

or the city makes travel by carriage almost a necessity; hence, Bangkok is a long way ahead of any other city in the far East in the use of wheeled vehicles. The demand at first was supplied principally from outside sources; but of late a local industry has sprung up, and 90 per cent. of the carriages in use are now manufactured in Bangkok. Without exception, however, they strike the American as sunnecessarily heavy and clumsy.

The streets of the city are perfectly level, no point for miles around being more than three feet above high-water mark, and, being built of brick or macadam, are most adaptable to the use of light-running vehicles of all kinds. Moreover, the native ponies, which have proved themselves best fitted to stand the trying climate, are very small, weighing only from 500 to 700 pounds, and hardly suitable for heavy vehicles. But these little animals are used so exclusively that there are not more than thirty full-sized horses in the city.

FOOTPADS' NEW DODGE.

REPORT OF ATTEMPTED HOLD-UP OF SALOON-KEEPER. According to the statement of George B. Simpson, one of the proprietors of the Station saloon, at First street and Broadway, a new dodge has been resorted to by the footpads who are infesting Los Angeles. The trick is to stretch a wire across a street at the place of an intended hold-up of a person traveling in a vehicle.

About a week ago an attempt was made to hold up a man who was driving into the city in a cart. The horse shied at the highwaymen, ran over one of them and nearly earned the standing reward of $50 offered by Chief of Police Elton for the dead body of a robber or burglar. This incident probably caused the highwaymen to adopt some means to prevent the horse from running away when they next essayed to hold up a wheeled conveyance.

As Mr. Simpson was driving homeward Tuesday morning, after closing his saloon, his horse stumbled over a wire stretched, across Edgeware road. Pepper trees line the street on either side at the point where the wire was stretched, and the trees cast a deep shadow in the road. The horse, fortunately, regained his feet and Simpson urged him onward. The retreating forms of two men in the shadows of the trees convinced the saloon man that a hold-up was contemplated. He had $130, the proceeds of his day's busines, on his person, but was armed with a revolver, and would have given the highwaymen a warm reception had they not made their escape when they saw that the progress of the vehicle was unimpeded.

Simpson thinks the would-be robbers were aware that he was in the habit ording to the statement of Geor unimpeded.

Simpson thinks the would-be robbers were aware that he was in the habit of driving home late at night with the day's receipts of his saloon in his pockets, and that they deliberately set a trap for him. In consequence of his experience he has made other arrangements for the care of his money, and is not carrying it home with him at night any longer.

SOQUEL CANON RUSH. FULLERTON, April 11.—[Regular Correspondence.] A genuine rush to Sequel Cañon and tributary country has set in. The small acreage remaining in range of the cañon that is not in the hands of oil people now is eagerly sought for, the owners being besieged by applicants for leases, options or terms of some sort. Scarcity of machinery will hold back actual development for a while.

by constant development. So more water must be secured from some water must be secured from some source.

Some years ago, when the Goler dry diggings were the principal attraction, some parties conceived the idea that if bedrock could be reached in the edge of the valley below Goler, that very rich diggings would be struck, and a shaft was sunk. Bedrock was deeper than had been anticipated, and after sinking to a depth of more than 350 feet, water was found without reaching the desired bedrock. Water was not then the great desideratum, and after sinking to a depth of 380 feet work was suspended, as the water came in faster than the small engine and pumping plant could handle it.

For several years the well stood idle, all the machinery being taken away, when the Yellow Aster management to purchase the well, if, after a trial, it would furnish sufficient water for its purposes. Some money was paid down and a pumping plant and force of mea put on. After a thorough trial it was found that the well was good for 100,000 gallons of water per day, but with the best, was in a bad shape, and it would all have to be put in new if the well was to be used: besides, there was some hitch in the title, and the company, not wishing to spend more money and in the end have another law suit on its hands, concluded to abandon it and begin work on contiguous territory on a new well, and do the work over again from the start.

This they are now doing; a strong force of men is at work night and day on a new well. Their work on the old well demonstrated the fact that there is plenty of water there, and the money they paid out was well spent. So certain are they of their position that a contract has been let to a San Francisco firm for a pipe line from the wells, the whole to cost $55,000. The completion of the well, with the necessary buildings, will raise this to the neighborhood of $75,600, and the addition to the mill will swell the amount to $125,000, or thereabouts. This will is the State.

OTHER OPERATIONS.

Other improvements a county to connect with the narrow gauge, and it will probably come by way of Randsburg. It is well knows that the Randsburg road has paid from the start, and surveys have been mad to extend it up into the Panamint country. A few days ago C. M. Warner, treasurer of this road, and a heavy capitalist of Syracuse, N. Y. in company with his son and Mr. Sharpes, also of New York, and Mr. Weir of Los Angeles, local treasurer of the road, came up to Johannesburg and made a trip over into the Panamint country in company with Col. Woodard, general manager of the road.

They were gone some days and came back thoroughly impressed #7th the feasibility of the route, as well as the favorable outlook for business, and there is little doubt that the road will be extended. If built, it will pass up Panamint Valley from the south, and the nearest point to the Greenland borax works would be near Vingate Pass about ninety miles, but the whole of that a good easy wagon road.

When this road is built it will open up some valuable mines, now too far distant from railroads to pay.

The water problem has been serious here of late, but the outlook is improving both the Johannesburg and Squaw Springs wells producing more at the present time than for months.

Development of the mines is going on all around Randsburg, and the camp was never in better condition.

Will Be a Big Day.

The city will be well represented at the Riverside Street Fair on Los Angeles Day. F. Q. Story, chairman of the special committee appointed by the Chamber of Commerce to work up an accursion, said yesterday that aiready one hundred tickets had been sold, and that fifty more had been spoken for. "The indications are." said he, "that the excursion will be one of the largest ever given under the auspices of the chamber." The Bartlett-Logan Post Drum Corps has offered its services on the day of the excursion.

Irish Stew and Tea.

Robert Gordon, the Spring street restaurateur, has come to the conclusion, it is said, that Col. Bryan is not a great man. This verdict is not altogether final, so the story goes, and Mr. Gordon reserves the right to change his mind if subsequent developments shall warrant it. He was standing in the lobby of the Nadeau the other evening, chatting with friends, when a waiter passed up the stairs, bearing a tray with viands for the silver orator. Mr. Gordon with his experienced eye noted at once all that the try bore. "What!" exclaimed the carerer." does Bryan dine on Irish stew and tea? That settles it. He cannot be a gentus."

May Get on Skates.

May Get on Skates.

Those of the big crowd in the Velodrome who were satirically requested by ex-Senator White, Tuesday evening, to "temporarily abandon their normal amusement of skating," were given full rein again last evening. The large amphitheater presented a chaotic appearance indeed, when the gray light of dawn filtered through the canvas roof yesterday morning. Chairs and planks were strewn about in endless confusion. A force of men was early at work clearing the hall. The planks were removed and returned to the lumber yard and the chairs piled in great heaps about the floor. Later in the day these, too, were taken away, and the Velodrome by evening had resumed its normal occupation.

Bight Corner for Stamp.

"The proper place for a postage stamp on mail matter is the upper right-hand corner of the addressed side," said Postmaster Groff, yesterday, and detecting a smile on the face of his listener, he added: "Of course, every man, woman and child in the country should know this rule of the Postoffice Department, and they probably do, but many fail to comply. Bryan's Belated Shave.

The committee of arrangements for Bryan's reception in this city had sixteen troubles to one joy. It was supposed that the orator would desire a shave on his arrival here, and so the thoughtful committee induced a barber to remain after the usual closing hour for the purpose of removing from the orator's fatigued jaw any hirsuic incumbrances to his work of saving the country. The train was late. The barber hung around for an hour, two hours, but Bryan did not appear, although he had arrived at the hotel, whereupon the indignant tonsorial artist hunted up the committee. "How much longer am I to wait?" he asked. "Mr. Bryan does not desire your services till morning," he was told. Then the barber swore a round oath and let slip the shocking blasphemy, "Who in blank is Bryan, anyhow?"

FRICK WILL SELL OUT.

LL NOT FURTHER HAMPER CARNEGIE AND COMPANY. [A. P. EARLY A.M. REPORT.]

IA. P. EARLY AM. REPORT.]

NEW YORK, April 11.—A special to the Tribune from Pittsburgh says: "H. C. Frick will dispose of all his holdings—something over $16,000,000—in the Carnegie Company just as soon as he can," said a big stockholder of the Carnegie company. "He won what he contended for and will not remain to hamper Mr. Carnegie or his partners."

It is said that Mr. Frick and President Schwab are not on pleasant terms, and this has done much toward keeping Messrs. Frick and Carnegie apart. Officials of the Carnegie company deny that there is any truth in the report that the company will take in the Cramps concern, either in part or in whole, or that any selling arrangement has been made whereby armor plates and structural material will be supplied the Cramps by the Carnegie company. They say that if such a project is on, it is locked up in the bosom of Messrs. Carnegie and Schwab.

Carnegie and Schwab.

A rumor is current that Mr. Frick will buy out the Cramps. No foundation can be found for it, however, Mr. Frick refusing to discuss any of his projects; besides, he is interested in the concern Mr. Morse of Wilmington promoted, and the plant is under way near Philadelphia. It might be that it and the Cramps will consolidate, but nothing of it can be learned here.

Our Method of Buying and Importing

Ask the Los Angeles customs officer or our bankers what house is the largest importer of kid gloves, and the answer will be Hamburger & Sons.

Ask them our methods of buying and they will tell you the following facts:

That when we send our orders to the glove factory in Grenoble, France, they are accompanied by letters of credit. When the gloves are finished and ready for shipment the factory presents the bill to its banker and collects it. In this way the gloves are paid for before they leave Grenoble. The Grenoble banker then sends a sight draft to our Los Angeles bankers for the amount they have paid, plus 14 days' interest.

Shortly after this is paid the goods arrive and we are notified to pay the duties to the Los Angeles customs officers, who then deliver the goods to us in the same cases in which they were packed at Grenoble.

which they were packed at Grenoble.

The price we pay for our imported gloves is so near the actual cost of production that every piece of tissue paper, every pin, every box, band and case used in packing and shipping is charged for. On nearly every bill is an item of 15c or 20c for pins. It seems ridiculous, yet the manufacturers are obliged to charge for every insignificant item which adds to the cost of shipping our gloves.

It is a positive fact that no other Los Angeles store buys gloves in this way.

It is also a fact that we are the largest retail importers on the Pacific Coast.

-We order more gloves of the Grenoble factories than any retail store in San Francisco. The records show it.

Is there any doubt, then, as to our position as leaders in the glove business of
